FOR THE FUTUREDECISION OF SUPREME COURT HAS FAR-REACHING EFFECT.

PLEASING TO THE OFFICIALS

Civil Service Rules Are Given the Interpretation Designed for Them.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Oct. 7.—It is now a well-established principle that neither the courts nor the civil service commission has any right to pass upon the prerogative of a head of a state department to dismiss a subordinate for cause. The supreme court in deciding the case of Adolph H. Wagner against State Treasurer A. H. Dahl Tuesday defined the power of such superior as absolute. The tribunal takes the ground that it is assumed that the public officers of the state will not abuse their office of office for the purpose of displacing an employee. The intent of the civil service law, it is declared, never contemplated placing a department head to the necessity of going into court every time he feels obliged to dismiss an employee, and to stand for a large expense in so doing. Neither did it give the civil service commission such power of review.

Wagner was removed for insubordination and incompetency. He then secured a writ of mandamus ordering Treasurer Dahl to reinstate him. Mr. Dahl took the case into the circuit court, and a jury found Wagner incompetent and incompetent, sustaining the treasurer's removal. Wagner appealed to the supreme court.

Commenting upon the supreme court's ruling, Mr. Dahl said today: "I am very much pleased, indeed, with the decision. As a citizen of this state I am pleased to know that the public service of the state will not in the future be hampered by the retention in office of employees who are incompetent, inefficient, and impotent, etc., simply because a civil service law protects them to the extent of forcing the head of a department to suffer the humiliation of a lawsuit, with the costs incident thereto, to be paid from his own pocket, as I have been forced to do in discharging unworthy employees."

"The civil service law is now as it was intended to be when it was passed—as the author of the bill, the introducer of the bill and those who supported it, understood it to be. The court decision has corrected the ridiculous and extremely absurd provision of the law and it is now sane and reasonable. Our law is now in conformity with the laws on this subject in all other states and with the federal law. I recommended this change in the law in my biennial report for 1907-8 and drafted a bill along these lines and presented to the last legislature, but the body refused to correct the bill."

"The taxpayers of this state are entitled to the best service possible for salaries paid and they have a right to insist upon this; this decision will do more to improve the public service than any law that is not in the service can realize. I have spent three years of hard work, suffered annoyance, had court trials, and been to great expense in defense of this principle, and I am certainly pleased to learn that the supreme court has sustained my position."

"The competent and well-behaved subordinate has nothing to fear and needs no law to bolster him up and keep him in the service—the other fellow will learn that passing an examination and securing an appointment to office does not necessarily mean that he is secure for life, unless he proves himself competent and deserving."

In his opinion the court said in part:

"We can see nothing in the civil service law that would warrant giving it any other interpretation than that almost uniformly gives to other acts involving situations similar to the one under consideration. The purpose of the legislature in passing the act was apparent. We do not perceive how the conclusion reached will operate to defeat or impair that purpose. It is not to be presumed that officers to whom the people of the state have entrusted important public functions, and who have their office and become permanent because they want to remove one employee to make place for another. In case of removal the right of selection is ordinarily limited to choosing a successor from one of three names certified by the civil service commission. The presumption is that public officers will obey the law and will not voluntarily and criminally violate them, and the legislature may have had in mind the advisability of placing the absolute power of discharge for just cause in the hands of department heads, so that a high degree of efficiency and discipline might be maintained with reasonable promptness."

"The treasurer acted within his jurisdiction in making the removal for the cause specified and there is nothing to show that he acted arbitrarily or otherwise than in perfect good faith in making it. Whether he was right or wrong in reaching the conclusion which he did on the facts is not a question for the courts to decide."

SERIES FOR WORLD'S
TITLE BEGINS SOONPittsburg Plays Opening Game With Detroit Americans At Pittsburg
Friday.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Pittsburg, Pa., Oct. 7.—The climax of the professional baseball season is at hand. The series for the world's championship between the Detroit, three times champions of the American league, and the Pittsburg, winners of this year's pennant in the National league, will begin tomorrow at Packer Field in this city. For a week the two leading teams of the country will be engaged in a nerve-racking contest, the games alternating between this city and the City of the Straits.

Probably no series that has ever been played in baseball will attract the attention this one will, and probably no series, the weather being suitable, will equal it in attendance. As to what the series will bring forth the fans have been keyed up to a high pitch trying to convince themselves and others why their favorite team should win. These conclusions have been governed largely by the way they want the series to go. The Pittsburg fans can furnish convincing reasons why his team should capture a majority of the series of seven games and the American league followers can furnish reasons none the less logical why the Detroit Tigers should walk off with the rich plum. As to the man who has not formed an opinion, who merely wants to see the best team win and has no particular affiliation, he thinks one way or another. Reasons pro and con can be furnished, until one vacillates like a pendulum.

The teams will play Friday and Saturday in Pittsburg, Monday and Tuesday in Detroit, Wednesday in Pittsburg and Thursday in Detroit. In case it becomes necessary to play a seventh game, the city in which it is to be played will be determined by the national commission. The officiating umpire will be Frank O'Loughlin and William G. Evans of the American league and William Klein and J. E. Johnstone of the National league.

This will be the sixth time that the champion teams of the National and American leagues have contested for the world's championship. The first series was played in 1903. No series has been played since then, but since they have been contested each year without intermission. The winners of the various series follow:

1903—Pittsburg, champions of National league, vs. Boston, champions of American league. Won by Boston, five games to three.

1904—No series played.

1905—New York, champions of National league, vs. Philadelphia, champions of American league. Won by New York, four games to one.

1906—Chicago, champions of American league, vs. Chicago, champions of National league. Won by Americans, four games to two.

1907—Chicago, champions of National league, vs. Detroit, champions of American league. Won by Chicago, four games to none, with one tie.

1908—Chicago, champions of National league, vs. Detroit, champions of American league. Won by Chicago, four games to one.

NEW HOLSTEIN MAN
REPORTED MISSINGLeft His Home on Monday Last And Has Not Been Heard From Since.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

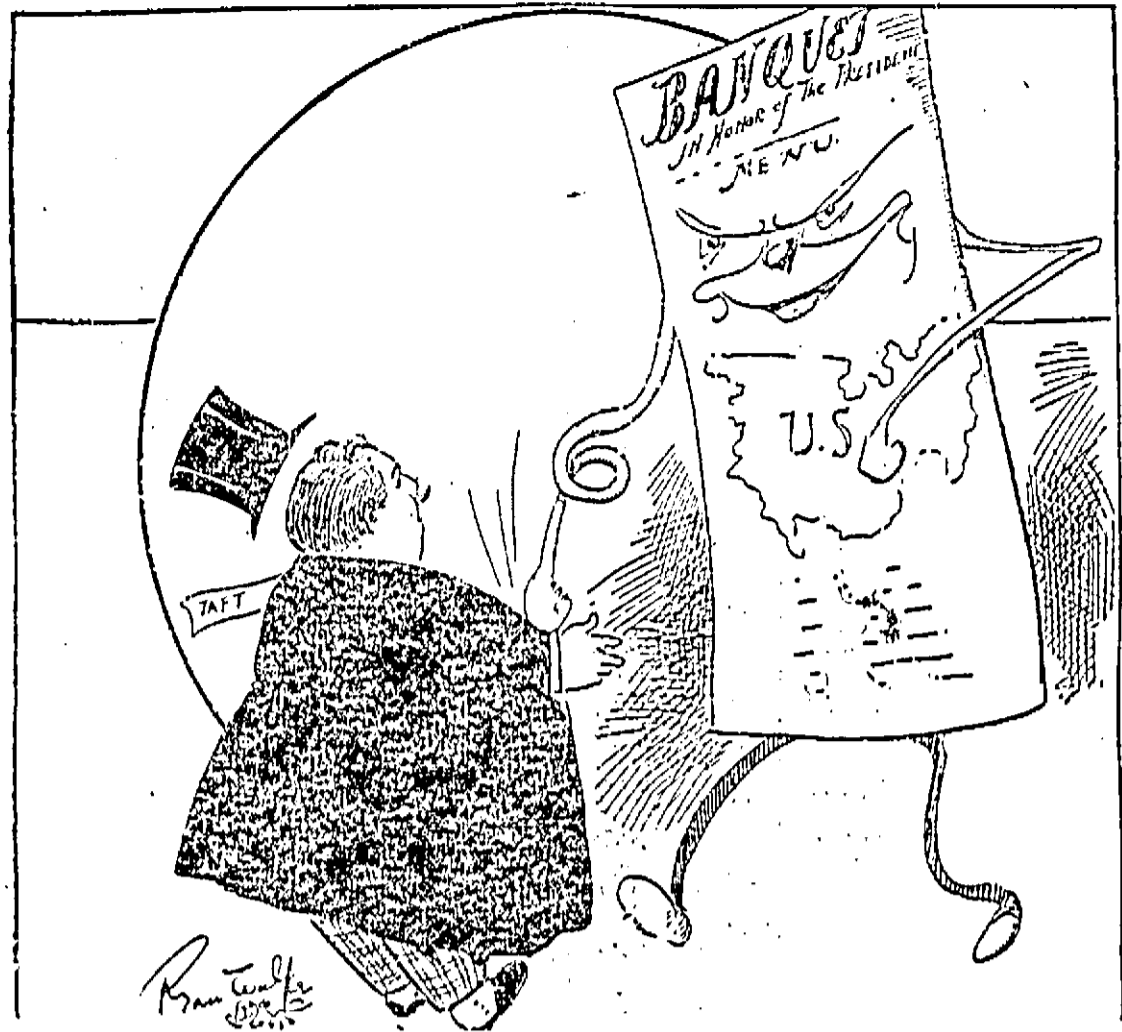

Shohogyan, Wis., Oct. 7.—Ernest Meyer, a New Holstein man, is missing from his home since Monday afternoon when he came to this city to transact business. His wife inquired for him at the police station several times. She stated to the police that he had $400 with him and it is possible that he met with foul play at the hands of some person who knew he carried a large amount of money. It is said he stated to a business man after doing business with him that he would "take a look at the harbor before he went home." His brother, from New Holstein, has been in the city several days.

The body of the (then) unknown man found in the woods north of this city on June 14 was exhumed Wednesday by Coroner Pezgan, for the benefit of relatives who believed that the man was William Hein who disappeared from his home in the town of Lyndon, Ill. son, William, identified the body by a straw hat found with the body and by the handwriting in a small memorandum book which was found with various other personal effects.

STATE CONVENTION
OF R. I. DEMOCRATSDenimies Met in Providence Today
To Nominate State Tickets and Form Platform.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Providence, R. I., Oct. 7.—The Democratic state convention of Rhode Island for the nomination of candidates for offices to be filled at the November election was called to order in Infantry Hall at 11 o'clock this morning. Indications pointed to the nomination of Olney Arnold for the governorship. Mr. Arnold was the candidate for governor last year. The Democrats will make their fight this year on the constitutional amendments and the income tax proposition. The party is particularly opposed to the amendments providing for the redefining of the state and making the lieutenant governor presiding officer of the senate in place of the governor. The platform will give enthusiastic endorsement to the income tax proposition.

RATE CASE HEARING
IN SEATTLE TODAYComplaints Against Transportation
Companies Heard By Interstate Commerce Commission.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Seattle, Wash., Oct. 7.—The Interstate Commerce Commission met in Seattle today to take testimony and arguments in various complaints made against transportation companies by commercial interests and firms in the Puget Sound district. One of the most important among the cases to be heard is that of the Puget Sound Steamship Company vs. the White Pass and Yukon Route, in which a new and interesting point has been raised. In this case the attorneys of the White Pass and Yukon Route, which in connection with its steamship operates railroads, attack the jurisdiction of the commission over railroads in Alaska and claim that the only governmental supervision to which railroads in Alaska are subject is that conferred upon the department of the Interior by an act of Congress, which was not repealed by the Hepburn Railroad regulation act.

The King's Mountain chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution had charge of the day's ceremonies. The principal oration was delivered by Dr. Henry N. Snyder, president of Western College. Other speakers included Governor Ames of South Carolina, Governor Kitchin of North Carolina and Congressman D. E. Finley.

The monument, which was erected by the Federal government, was admired by everyone who saw it. The memorial occupies a conspicuous site on the highest point of the battlefield. The granite shaft, which was designed by McKim, Mead and White of New York, stands 115 feet high and is 11 feet square at the base. On the sides are four bronze tablets. The tablet on the face of the monument is inscribed as follows:

To Commemorate the Victory of King's Mountain,
October 7, 1780.

Pl. Pleasant, W. Va., Oct. 7.—A three days' celebration was begun here today in observance of the 135th anniversary of the battle of Pl. Pleasant, which was fought between the colonists and the Indians in 1774 and is recognized by some as the first battle of the Revolutionary war. The chief feature of the program will be the dedication of a monument erected to mark the site of the battle.

LA CROSSE SEARCHES
FOR THE CRIMINALSOutbreak of Crime Sweeps Over the Wisconsin River City—Many Holdups Reported.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

La Crosse, Wis., Oct. 7.—The outbreak of crime the last few days, one burglary following another in stores and residences, and even holdups being frequent, and with the police apparently helpless to deal with the emergency, has caused something like a reign of terror in La Crosse. With a score of crimes committed and only one arrest made, and that in an insignificant case, the department does not know which way to turn to check the lawlessness.

No clew has yet been obtained to the Latz, Walsh, or Miller robberies, in which the plunder amounted to thousands of dollars, in each case the bonds which the authorities had being exhausted without producing results. Last night an arrest on suspicion was made, which may prove important. It came to the ears of the police that a person unknown to the occupants of residences and not in the employ of the telephone companies had been visiting homes and obtaining admission under the pretense of inspecting the telephones, the whole force was put to work and late at night an arrest was made. No proof has yet been found against him, but it is the theory that he is the agent of a band of burglars.

Arriving last night and proceeding to the home of a relative, Walter Hedberg, of the United States navy, was held up at a dark spot on the street and his money demanded. Pretending to comply the naval officer drew a heavy service revolver and thrust it in the holdup man's face. The man escaped. No clew has yet been obtained of the holdup and carriage stolen from the Palmer livery.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Blackburg, C. C., Oct. 7.—With eloquent oratory and an imposing military display the monument erected to commemorate the battle of King's Mountain was dedicated today on the battlefield near this place. The governors of North and South Carolina and Tennessee, members of Congress and many other prominent in official life, as well as a large concourse of citizens, were present. Soldiers of the regular army and of the National Guard of three States were present as a tribute to the Colonial troops who defeated the British on October 7, 1780, and thereby turned the tide of the Revolution in favor of the American colonists.

The King's Mountain chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution had charge of the day's ceremonies. The principal oration was delivered by Dr. Henry N. Snyder, president of Western College. Chicago and North-Western
RUSH OF FREIGHT TRAFFIC
SEEMS TO BE INCREASING

With 100 cars in the yards this morning to be switched immediately, the traffic rush on the North-Western shows no signs of slackening at present, but on the contrary seems to be getting worse. An unusual lack of motive power makes it impossible for the trains to be sent out as fast as the cars are ready. To eliminate any possibility of the yard becoming blocked, another switch-engine will be put on during the day in a short time. This will make four switch-engines in service during the day.

WHAT IS MUCK-RAKING?

The following letter, under date of Oct. 1st, is the text of this article: "In an editorial a few days ago you condemned the practice of muck-raking. I am not sure that I fully understand what you mean. If you mean that Miss Tarbell's history of the Standard Oil company, and the history of the sugar trust dealings, in recent years, is muck-raking, why I am not in sympathy with you, for I believe the acts of a big scandal should be exposed as much as a little one. I frequently read in your paper of the misdeeds of individuals. If it is right to squal on them, why is it not the proper thing to condemn the big thief or thieves? I believe in a square deal, and some corporations and individuals obviously do not, if we judge by their acts.

"Yours,

"A. P. NICHOLSON."

The writer of this letter doubtless remembers that muck-raking is a word coined by ex-President Roosevelt and used by him in denouncing a class of writers and speakers who were employed to malign men in public life, and to stir up class hatred. The M. Tarbell had just concluded her attack on the Standard Oil company, and Lincoln J. Steffens was engaged in a campaign of slander against such men as ex-Senator John C. Spooner of Wisconsin. Steffens and Tarbell, and half a dozen other writers of the same class, were on the staff of the McClure's, and shortly after the president's denunciation they were looking for another job, for the magazine publishers had discovered that public sentiment was changing.

It developed that Miss Tarbell's brother was president of an independent oil company in Philadelphia, and that he furnished inside information and was the inspiration of his sister's articles, while Steffens and the rest of the bunch were instructed to stir things up generally.

Muck-raking became a feature of magazine yellow journalism. It dealt not only with men in public and private life, but with railroads and transportation companies, and attacks were so dastardly, and the public mind was so easily influenced that all kinds of corporations became a by-word.

When the president called a halt he realized what might happen, but he had waited too long, for our securities were discredited abroad, and our credit depreciated so rapidly at home that the panic of 1907-08 were inevitable.

The reforms of the past decade have been wholesome, because they have raised the standard of business morality to a higher plane. The public conscience has been quickened, and many practices that were deemed right have been found wrong, but the pendulum swung back so far that the whole fabric of business was demoralized, and men with capital were regarded with suspicion.

Muck-raking had become a popular pastime, and its coteries were found in every community. Many of them passed as reformers, and Wisconsin headed the list, crazy legislation followed and results were disastrous.

The late panic was a necessity, for it restored an era of sanity and turned the current of thought into wholesome channels. The fact was recognized that public sentiment, while strong, is not always right, and that almost any kind of a muckraker can incite a mob, by appeals to prejudice and ignorance.

The Gazette believes that guilt should be punished wherever found, but it does not believe in mob rule, nor the confiscation of property illegally. The paper has no time for socialism nor anarchy. The watchword of the nation is "Forward," and its policy constructive. Muck-raking is destructive and therefore harmful.

HOARD'S CRITICISM

The criticism of ex-Governor Hoard, on the public school system, has stirred up a hornet's nest among the educators, and the superintendent of the Milwaukee schools comes to their defense, but it might be well for instructors to remember that they represent but a limited class, compared to the great audience for whom Mr. Hoard was speaking, and who endorse to the echo every proposition advanced.

There is no argument in defense of a system which sacrifices the practical education of 20,000,000 school children for the benefit of 400,000 who aspire to higher education, and that is what the system means. Only two per cent of high school graduates ever enter either university or college and less than ten per cent of all the scholars enrolled in the public schools ever pass the eighth grade.

Mr. Hoard is one of the university regents and his criticism carries force on that account. The magazines and metropolitan press are edited by college men, and the lecture platform is occupied by representatives of the same class, so that the people seldom have a hearing on this question.

The years that a boy spends in school are the most important years of his life. If the training does not prepare him for active work along practical lines he sustains a loss from which he rarely recovers. Mr. Hoard is right in his plea for a radical change in the public school system, and his advice should be followed.

During the centennial celebration in St. Louis the merchants sent up toy balloons for advertising purposes, containing a $10 bill. The farmers found it more profitable to go out gunning for the balloons than to work in the field. One of the flying machines captured was a regular balloon in the race that was on as a feature of the exhibition, and the men in the basket came down unexpectedly.

The Wisconsin commission appointed to investigate the working of the bank guarantee law in Oklahoma has just returned. Their report to the legislature will be unfavorable. The law is a failure, and if generally enacted would demoralize our monetary system. It encourages dishonest banking and floods the country with a lot of irresponsible banking institutions.

Cullen, a factory inspector in Michigan, was something of a grafter, and is now in jail awaiting trial. He was caught with $50 of marked money, paid him for passing an unsanitary building.

Minister Crane talked too much, and so has been called back from San Francisco before sailing for China, for a heart to heart interview with Secretary Knox. It is a wise man that knows when to keep still.

City government by commission is the solution of a perplexing problem. It works well wherever tried.

John R. Walsh, the Chicago banker, is discovering that "the way of the transgressor is hard."

THE POET PHILOSOPHER

gloms used to be from brush and mossy strangers free, and that was passing well; but now they're always clanking through, and every Eskimo's life is simply a hotel. The frozen wastes with sleds are gray, and every day is dreary day, with gorgeous street murders, until a moral bear can't sleep, and all life's pleasure fades. There was a time when I could roam in safety from my humble home, and bang an Eskimo; but now, whenever I leave my door, a gun is pretty sure to roar, and what me as I go. A half a pound or more of lead has flattened on my shapely head, and made it feel quite numb; and every time I take a walk some hungry hunter's sure to knock my wishbone out of plumb, and if we Arctic beasts are wise, we'll simply have to organize, if we'd avoid the worst; our banner we should straightway hang: 'The Arctic for the Arctic gang—the beasts that found it first!'

PRESS COMMENT.

Yes for Battle?
Milwaukee Sentinel: Jerome will be opposed for the district attorneyship by a man named Battle. Trouble ahead, for sure.

Have You a Chance?
Milwaukee News: The United States government now is operating a big land lottery in South Dakota. It still is against the law to circulate in the mails any reference to a turkey raffle.

Why Certainly!
The Wausau Record-Herald is much exercised over politics again. It says: J. E. McGovern is certainly to be a candidate for governor. He is throwing bouquets and incidentally alluded to Wausau as a city where great civic pride was evident. This was true enough and may gain some votes by thus tickling our self-esteem.

Some Were Politicians.

Incident bothers the Racine Journal but it does not stop to think of the primary law as being the cause of some of it.

"Wisconsin is no worse off than are other states as to proportion of insane citizens, but with one unfortunate to every 375 sane people, may be said to be a very large proportion. It cost the state last year to care for the chronic insane $167,489, all of which was assessed back to the counties."

Well, He Wanted It Hot?

The Marquette Eagle-Star comments on the hot supper problem as follows: "A Wausau man set fire to and destroyed his house because his supper wasn't ready on time. The manner in which he helped to alleviate the situation is beautiful to behold."

Just Wait a Bit.

The Marquette Advertiser is too anxious for trouble to begin. It asks: "What has become of all our constitutional amendment agitators? Can't be, can it, that they have also taken up with the North Pole discovery and have dropped everything?"

Right You Are.

Beloit Free Press: The Milwaukee Free Press observes that John Strange will not be long some how that other candidates are announced for the governorship. That is just the reason why we believe he will be.

Want a Little Though.

Madison Journal: These are the days when Colorado and California have nothing "over" Wisconsin on weather. Here October!

And Political Bosses.

Milwaukee Journal: The only European country which has suffered depopulation in the present century is Ireland, due, no doubt, to the demand for section bosses on American railroads.

FILLING A TOOTH

means saving a tooth and is a matter of great importance. The process is as interesting as it is important. The dentist first cleans out all decay from the hollow in the tooth, then packs the cavity with filling material—usually silver—and finally taps it gently to make the edges tight and firm and exclude all further decay.

The average life of a filling is said to be about 7 to 8 years, but I have seen fillings O. K. after 30 years of service.

Good fillings save your teeth and prevent loss of sickness.

MRS. FETHERS' SONG WAS ONE ACCEPTED

Mrs. John G. Rexford Sang It Before Members of the Daughters of the American Revolution.

THE STAR OF WISCONSIN.
We love the bright flag that flows over us,
We cherish each star on its breast;
But one star is greater in glory,
Wisconsin, the star of the west.
Had dawned ere our country was free—
When red men and white in thy forests
Met in peace beneath the French flag—thine.

Wisconsin, thy morning waters
Have stories of wonder to tell;
Brave deeds and heroic adventures
Have left on the fair fields in spell;
But the eagle that flies with our fathers,
First brought thee, the flag they had won,
And fixed on its broad azure bosom
The star that now glows in the sun.

Wisconsin, thy star is a beacon,
A light to our wandering feet;
No distance can dim its bright luster,
Nor rival in splendor complete.
It beckons in darkness and daylight,
We see its bright beams from afar;
Wisconsin, thy daughters adore thee;
Our state of the glorious star.

Mrs. John G. Rexford's singing of the above song with Mrs. Shearer of the piano, which was written by Mrs. Ogden H. Fethers, the state regent of the D. A. R., before the state meeting which closed in Wausau yesterday brought forth a vote of thanks of the members and its adoption as their state song.

Milwaukee was named as the next meeting place and the following officers were elected for the coming year:

State Regent—Mrs. Ogden H. Fethers, Janesville.
Vice Regent—Mrs. E. H. Van Ostrand, Antioch.

Treasurer—Mrs. George F. Gilkey, Oakbrook.
Chairman credentials committee—Mrs. Frank S. Smith, Waukesha.

Hearing Before Court Commissioner Burpee Today in Case of William Denoyer vs. First Nat'l. Co.

An adverse examination of the plaintiff in the case of William Denoyer vs. the First National Accident Co. was held before Court Commissioner F. C. Burpee this afternoon. The plaintiff, who runs the mills at Afton, seeks to recover $180 and interest for injuries to an arm which occurred on June 29, 1908. ## WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

TEACHER said to me the other day, "You must never own up that you are wrong. If you do the children will lose faith in you. If I make a mistake I bluff it out."

Many fathers and mothers have the same theory, but I think both in the schoolroom and round the fireside it is totally wrong.

You are far more apt to lose a child's faith by bluffing a thing out than by honestly owning up when you make an error either in judgment or in the statement of fact.

By honestly owning up, you admit to your child that you are human and therefore liable to mistakes, but you show your justice of intention. By bluffing you not only risk his faith in your infallibility, but also in your justice.

I was visiting at a house the other day whose master is noted for his square dealings with his fellow men, and who, unlike many men, carries his love of the square deal into his own home.

I had a very good illustration of this fact.

At the breakfast table one day he had rather sternly reproved his son for being late. At dinner that night he called the boy to him and said without any of the patronage of a superior, but with a man-to-man manner that boys so love to have their fathers use to them:

"Phillip, I made a mistake this morning. Your mother says that it was something for which you were not at all to blame and which you could not very well explain to me this morning, that made you late. I reproved you in front of our guests and I want to ask your pardon in the same way. Please excuse me, son."

I had always admired the man, but never so much as at that moment.

I recently had the pleasure of being at the same little inn where Woods Hutchinson, the well-known physician and writer, spends his summers. He has a son nine or ten years old who is very old for his age. At the table one day Dr. Hutchinson reproved him for taking too large mouthfuls of steak and eating too fast.

"Father," said the youngster, who by the way always reads everything his father writes, "Father, in your last book you said that meat was so digestible that if a person with average digestion should eat his meat in inch pieces and swallow it whole it would not hurt him. Now, I think I have an average digestion and I am cutting this much smaller than that and I'm not swallowing it whole so I think I'll get along all right."

It would have been hard to find a chance to "bluff it out" in the face of that quotation, but if Dr. Hutchinson had been like some parents I know he might have said, "That will do, I don't want to hear any more about it," or something similar.

But I am happy to say that he is enough unlike some parents to acknowledge the justice of his son's remark.

Nothing, rancid in a child's mind more than a sense of injustice.

It may be hard for some fathers and mothers to own to their children that they are not always right, but I think they will be apt to find that justice pays in the end.

Hero of Peking is dying in Poverty, Weds News.

August E. F. Chamot and his wife, Formerly Miss Dellar, Whom He Married on the Death Bed.

San Francisco.—Telegraphing to his relatives that he was on his deathbed and asking that they should pay his funeral expenses, August E. F. Chamot, the hero of the Boxer uprising, wealthy and influential trader in Peking and other places in the Orient, consul-general, bon vivant and clubman, who is morally ill has laid himself down to die in a little country shack at Lakeside.

Here the man of bon mots, hero of a thousand adventures and daredevil deeds; the man at imminent personal risk, managed by indomitable will, pluck and perseverance, to secure for 78 days provisions for 4,500 besieged men and women and children starving within the walls of Peking, while myriads of hate-driven yellow foes sought their lives, is slowly awaiting his end in poverty, though but a few years ago, as reward for his gallantry at Peking, he was in possession of a princely fortune.

One out of all his relatives, friends and companions has remained true and stays with him to soften the sufferings of his dying hours. She is Betty Dellar, the former beautiful New York model, who is alleged to have been the cause of the divorce of Chamot and Annie McCarthy, his former wife.

Chamot married Miss Dellar last week, the ceremony being arranged by Jean Escalle, a countryman and neighbor of the dying man, and performed by Justice of the Peace W. F. Mace of San Rafael.

Though the cottage in which he is slowly dying is dingy unattractive, on the walls beside the bed hang the French decoration of the Legion of Honor an exquisite cameo likeness of Pope Leo XIII, and the Islands of a Knight of the Rising Sun of Japan. There are silent reminders of a few of the honors conferred upon him for his great work during the Boxer trouble in China.

Chamot's position as a hotelkeeper

These foraging expeditions lasted nearly three months and were not discontinued until the legation had been relieved on the triumphal entry of the allied forces into the Forbidden City.

When order was restored the splendid work of the Chamots was at once recognized and with meteoric rapidity, news of their daring travel far and wide.

The French government was the first to recognize Chamot for his brilliant work, obtaining from the Chinese government an indemnity of $200,000 for damage done to his hotel. He received a gift of $450,000 from the allied powers as recognition of his services and was made a chevalier by the Italian government, received the crown of the Legion of Honor from the French government and was personally decorated by the emperor of Japan with the insignia of a Knight of the Rising Sun.

Having had enough of the allures of the east for the time being, Chamot with his wife, made a tour of the world, being received with notable marks of distinction in every country which they visited. Later, tiring of his travels, Chamot, like all those who have breathed the California atmosphere returned home and invested largely in real estate. He built a palatial residence at Inverness, where he kept open house and dispensed hospitality with a lavish hand. He also built the Inverness hotel in San Francisco. But it, along with his other worldly possessions, was consumed in the fire.

Destitute of money, Chamot was compelled to disperse, in New York, of his valuable collection of curious and a sum far below their true value. After doing so his health broke down and he was forced to engage a nurse, who as it happened, happened to be the fascinating Miss Dellar. Chamot with his wife and the nurse returned to San Francisco and events which led up to his divorce soon followed.

Chamot married Miss Dellar his first wife being wed on June 1 to Gus Ronstrom of the well-known automobile firm of Frank O. Ronstrom of 424 Stanyan street.

Chamot who is 42 years of age, was born in Lucerne, Switzerland, and went to China when he was but 10 years of age. It was through the aid of Father Favier, a Catholic priest that he built his hotel behind the British legation. Chamot prospered greatly in China and he became a large dealer in silk.

After he had finished his work of provisioning the legations in China during the Boxer trouble, Lieut. Eugene Diney, commander of the French detachment in his report gave great credit of Chamot and wrote: "Without him the Chinese and Europeans would have died of hunger before the arrival of the troops."

Gray Cashmere

Here is a pretty dress of gray cashmere, relieved by touches of dark red velvet, which is appropriate for a young girl of 16 or so. The bodice was tucked, a row of velvet buttons following the line of the tucks, with square neck lined with velvet and an attractive trimming of lace. The sleeves follow the style of many of this season's models, consisting of three portions and three materials. The sleeve cap is of the material of the gown, with trimming of soutache, the puff beneath of red velvet, and the long close cuff of lace. The skirt has the elaborate top, which is cut in one with the center panel, on either side of which the skirt is pleated.

Buffalo, N. Y., Oct. 7.—At one o'clock this morning the second attempt to destroy the viaduct over the New York Central tracks near the corner of Elk and Michigan streets was made and a large section of the structure was wrecked by dynamite. The first attempt at its destruction occurred on the morning of September 14.

RADIES THREATEN 5 OHIO MEN.

Bitten by Mad Horse They Hurry to Chicago for Treatment.

Sablin, O., Oct. 7.—In a desperate race for life five men from Lees Creek, seven miles from Sablin, left here for the Pasteur Institute at Chicago to try and escape death by hydrophobia.

Amos Taylor, Lou McClure, Russell Duke, Harry Duke and Boon Snow, in charge of Dr. Lambright, will make the race for their lives.

A horse belonging to one of the Dukes became sick and the men endeavored to treat it. The animal became very violent and bit, struck and lunged at everything in sight, bruising the men and covering them with saliva. A veterinary declared that the animal had hydrophobia and it was shot.

It is believed that the horse was bitten by a mad dog which passed through Lees Creek last week.

There is something about boldness which sometimes borders on audacity that commands respect, if it is based upon real self-confidence, a consciousness of power, and not upon egotism. ## Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be as fit as a fiddle and as beautiful. Why isn't it so? The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription."

Any sick woman may consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N. Y.
